Poets and poetry lovers are invited to Forgotten Voices meetings, held on the first Saturday of each month at 1 pm at the library.

Featured speaker in May: Glenn McLaughlin, winner of the Montgomery County Poet Laureate, 2013

While not formally trained in poetry, Glenn, a long-term substitute chemistry teacher, has published two collections of poetry--Something Catches (2006) and Forms of Lectio (2008). Several of his poems have been in the Schuylkill Valley Journal, The Mad Poets Review, and Forward and Big Bridge. A volume of poems and essays, The Land I am Given/Oops., was published in 2011.

About Forgotten Voices:
Free and open to the public. We meet the first Saturday of each month from 1-3 pm in the Community Room, except for July, when we meet off-site (call the library for location & directions). We are a group of people who are interested in poetry and have been meeting at the Indian Valley Public Library for over 22 years. The Forgotten Voices Poetry Group is led by Joanne Leva, creator of the Montgomery County Poet Laureate program. Go to www.montcopoet.com for more information about the program.
Many of our members write poetry, although, writing is not a requirement to attend. We welcome all ages, abilities, and interests. We enjoy listening to what each member shares. Please come and read a poem by a poet you like or a poem you have written, or just come to listen! If you love poetry, please join us!
